ISOLA ANNUAL CONFERENCE JANUARY 20-21, 2017 GOA, INDIA

2 DAYS 4 WALKS 6 SPEAKERS 8 WORKSHOPS

As landscape architects we play a pivotal role as members of large teams shaping urban development/ We work across various scales and try to weave livability and the environment together to enrich urban spaces.

As a dynamic organization, in response to the changing climatic conditions, Indian Society of Landscape Architects, ISOLA is organizing its 12th Annual Conference on January 20-21, 2017 in Goa on the theme CHANGING CLIMATES, EVOLVING LANDSCAPES. This will be a thought-provoking exchange with leaders in the fields of theory and practice in India and across the world to re-state our roles as professionals and front-runners in the race to live right.

The conference has been classified into three broad tracks:

- Challenges
- Mitigation
- Adaptation

Led by speakers and leaders in landscape and related professions, the two-day conference will use active learning media with interactive workshops related to both theory and practice. Moderated panel discussions and walks will help us to deliberate on climate change and on the planning, management and design of landscapes of tomorrow.
